ONES

Justly proud of the fine traditions and the rich heritage that Ward Seminary and Belmont College, both component parts of Ward-Belmont, have handed on to the present school and indeed cognizant of the fine record made during the quarter century since consolidation, our book presents the school of this year. "May the spirit of old '38 linger forever more" and be as valuable as the other contributions that have been added to Ward-Belmont during its twenty-five years of existence. Records of the activities, joys, and interests of 1937-38 are in these following pages and it is with pleasure that we present them to you.

HISTORICAL

The year 1937-38 marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the consolidated Ward-Belmont which continues and perpetuates Ward Seminary, founded in 1865, and Belmont College, founded in 1890. In 1913 the two schools were united on the Belmont campus which formerly had been the well-known estate of Col. and Mrs. J. S. Acklen. This home was modeled after an Italian villa surrounded by spacious gardens, and the tower which now lends so much atmosphere to the campus was used during the Civil War by the Federal troops as a lookout. The directors of Ward-Belmont, during the first year of the school, built both the Administration Building and Pembroke Hall (now Senior Hall). It was at the end of this year that Dr. John Diel Blanton, formerly of Ward Seminary, became president of the school, and served in that capacity until his death in 1933.

When in 1914 the newspaper and the yearbook were started, the Hyphen, the name symbolizing the merger, was an entirely new idea, while the MILESTONES was to be the combination of Ward's annual, The Iris, and Belmont's, My Lady in Brown. In the fall of the same year the Athletic Association and the student government were inaugurated by Miss Emma I. Sisson, then director of physical education. At this time the state clubs were also playing an active part in the life of the students. The A. B. C. contest was begun in 1922, and to be elected Ensemble Girl was, and is now, the highest honor bestowed by the student body. In 1923 another residence hall was added, which was named Hail Hall, and until this year was used for the members of the senior class, though now it is occupied by Senior Middles, that is, first year college students.

Club Village, ten pleasant houses centered around the old tower, was ready for occupancy in 1927. The Alumnae Association had started installation of the carillon chimes in the tower, which were played for the first time on April 12, 1928. It was the following year that one of the best equipped stables in the South was added to the school. During the past five years, the departmental clubs have had a phenomenal growth, and because of the increasing interest of the girls in creative work, Chimes, a literary magazine, was started in 1937.

The school sustained a great loss in the passing of Dr. Blanton. He was succeeded by Dr. John Wynne Barton, widely known educator and publisher, in 1933. Under Dr. Barton's administration Ward-Belmont made progress along broad educational and cultural lines. However, in 1936 Dr. Barton's health failed, and at his death in September of that year, Mr. A. B. Benedict assumed the leadership, and is the present well beloved administrative head of the institution.

Truly, Ward-Belmont can look back with pride at a quarter of a century of eventful history. It has grown from a school attended principally by Southern girls to an outstanding accredited junior college with an enrollment from every state in the union, and several foreign countries. While the faculty, alumnae, and students look to the past with pride and inspiration, so we too look forward to even greater achievements in the future.

TO

MISS ELIZABETH PHILLIPS

She typifies to the class of 1938 and the MILESTONES Staff the admirable dynamic force and vital energy that has made possible the progress of the consolidated Ward-Belmont.

"To transmit this school not less, but greater, better and more beautiful."

M I L E S T O N E S

MR. ANDREW B. BENEDICT

Mr. Benedict is a most integral part of the organization of Ward-Belmont. Not only does he carry on those precepts which have been developed through the twenty-five years by the presidents, but his interest and enthusiasm for all events in which the students take part endear him to each one. The Thanksgiving Dinner, Washington's Birthday, the Senior-Senior Middle Banquet and other formal occasions are always punctuated with just the appropriate speech by Mr. Benedict. Possessing a winning personality and a sense of humor, he has all the characteristics befitting a leader.

MISS EMMA I. SISSON

Not only sponsor of this year's senior class, but always the interested adviser of the entire student body, Miss Sisson, Dean of Residence, holds a prominent place in the life of Ward-Belmont as well as in the hearts of its girls. Always a poised and gracious hostess she is as interested in the social life of the campus as she is an enthusiastic spectator at the various sports events. During her stay here she has served as an inspiration to all with whom she has come in contact, and her influence has been one of those that has contributed greatly toward the successful quarter century of progress of Ward-Belmont.

DR. JOSEPH E. BURK

Presiding over the academic affairs of "Big Ac" and the continual scholastic problems arising among the girls, Dean Burk is always an attentive listener and a stern but sympathetic adviser. Not only is he known on the campus for his meritorious achievements as an educator, but also as a chapel speaker, and an enthusiastic spectator at the various athletic games. For these, and many other reasons, Dean Burk has become a vital part of the faculty and the holder of an equally important position as an academic leader.

ADMINISTRATION

MISS ANNIE C. ALLISON

Known to all Ward-Belmont students as "Miss Annie," the principal of the high school is to her pupils dean and director all rolled into one. With grace and dignity she carries on those aims and ideals which have been a part of the school since its founding. Her interests are centered on the girls' activities and scholastic achievements, and with wholehearted enthusiasm she enters into all campus affairs.

Boarding Student Council

The Boarding Student Council is composed of a group of girls who embody the concept of student government on the campus. They are elected by the boarding students and represent each of the school units. The purpose of the council is to help each girl to fit herself for membership in the community, both by attitude and deed.

Day Student Council

The day students are under school jurisdiction on or off the Ward-Belmont campus during the hours from eight-thirty in the morning until two-forty-five in the afternoon. One of the most versatile organizations on the campus is the "Y." Its purpose is to help the modern girl coordinate the spiritual side with the scholastic side of her school year. The "Y" has charge of Sunday night vespers, and through these meetings the students are introduced to various well-known speakers from all over the country, as well as numerous ministers from the city of Nashville. These evening services are non-sectarian, but through them the girls hope to gain some definite life goal from the ideals and philosophies presented to them by a number of persons.

A flag raising service on Armistice Day, many talks advocating peace, and the Thursday Forum, to which the student body is always most cordially invited, are all outgrowths of the "Y."

ORGANIZATIONS

Chimes

Chimes, a new undertaking in the way of literary achievement, was established November 15, 1936. The first issue was distributed one month after its founding. Even though it is still in comparative infancy, the magazine has achieved its purpose by establishing an outlet for the writing endeavors of literary-minded girls.

Chimes is a quarterly publication and contains poems, clever incidents, essays, short stories, and editorials.

The Hyphen

A buzz of activity envelops the Hyphen Office each Thursday of the school year for that is "press day." Much fun and work are mixed together as the newspaper of Ward-Belmont, whose name—The Hyphen—symbolizes the union of the two schools Ward and Belmont, prepares for the girls information on current international affairs, sports, and the better movies, to say nothing of the campus activities and anecdotes.

Tuesday is always an important "red letter day" for the papers are in the boxes and there is a mad dash for the post office.

The Milestones

In carrying out this year's theme of the Milestones, the staff has endeavored to compile a book which will give the Ward-Belmont girl of 1938 a journal of her activities and which will show the girls of other years what progress and changes the school has made. More of a memory book than ever, this twenty-fifth anniversary annual appeals to the remembrances of all who have been students here, and to both those "old girls" and "new girls" who hold dear familiar characteristics of Ward-Belmont.

The Athletic Association

Made up of the girls most interested in sports, the Athletic Association has a definite purpose in its organization, which is that of promoting fair play, sportsmanship, and spirit.

Membership is open to any student in the school. However, to be active in the association, one must be named as a member of a varsity or make the number of points required by playing on club teams. By merely paying dues a girl may become a participating member.

In the early spring the active members entertained with their annual party, and teams from the various halls played each other in friendly competition. An especially interesting part of the evening's fun was the game between the faculty members and Senior Hall. Ping-pong, volleyball, badminton, and basketball were the sports offered for competitive play.

Wordsmith Club

Selected for their outstanding originality of expression in composition members of Wordsmith have attained a much coveted goal. The girls meet once a month on Sunday, and across the tea table discuss and give helpful criticism for each other's work. Membership is limited and considered from the standpoint of a meritorious theme, poem, or story which is submitted to the group. Names are not written on any of the papers and the work is judged wholly for its individuality and original achievement.

Penstaff meets every other Wednesday in the home of one of the day student members. The girls read their articles aloud and all join in a group discussion, offering suggestions and constructive criticism.

The members of the French Club meet once a month in the various clubhouses to play games, talk, and read in French. The girls are taught to fully appreciate the value and beauty of the "language of diplomats."

Early in the spring the club gave a bridge party, at which all bidding and table conversation was done in French.

Interest in the language, customs, and thoughts of Germany brought about the organization of the German Club in November of last year. Since then the group has participated in many activities and has successfully stimulated interest in the meetings by speaking German during the whole time the members are together. The Art Club

Stimulating an interest in the finer arts is the purpose of the Art Club on this campus. A number of girls interested in photography have also affiliated with this group. During the year the club has been responsible for many educational and excellent exhibits, along with an interesting illustrated talk on the rudiments of photography by a specialist in the field. In the late fall, the members entertained with a tea in "Rec" hall for their friends, the faculty, and the household. A group of illustrated manuscripts was exhibited to the delight of the guests. In April, the club sponsored the Southern Printmakers exhibit on its appearance in Nashville.

Mathematics Club

Composed of students interested in the origin and application of the subject, members of the Math Club meet once each month in the various clubhouses to play mathematical games and to discuss mathematical problems. It is a comparatively new organization, founded in 1935, but under the guiding and patient hand of Miss Clement the club has increased its membership considerably over last year.

Orchestra

Under the expert leadership of Mr. Rose the Ward-Belmont Orchestra, widely known in music circles, presents to its admirers the classical orchestrations at their best. As is the annual custom the concert this year was given on April 14 to an appreciative audience.

In the Glee Club those girls who do not take the regular music courses may find an outlet for their talents. Under the direction and leadership of Mr. Dalton, the girls gave a concert on December 5 before the Christmas holidays. From among the members a selected few are chosen to sing in the choir for Wednesday chapel services.

Expression

The recognition that Ward-Belmont's expression department has gained is maintained each year by its presentation of three plays which are opened to the public. This year's traditional Christmas play was "Eager Heart," set in a background significant of the season. At Easter they gave "Thy Kingdom Come," especially written by Miss Townsend, and their third production was "Twelfth Night," as this year's Shakespearean play. The dramatics are all under the expert supervision of Miss Pauline Sherwood Townsend and Miss Catherine Winnia.

Inflexible in faith; invincible in arms."*

Hockey

Three hockey teams came through the regular season undefeated and unscored on: the Tri K's, T. C.'s, and Angkor's. The T. C.'s drew the Tri K's for the semifinals and won over them 3-1, playing in the snow. The next week saw the T. C.'s go on to defeat the Angkor's in the finals and win the cup. The score of the finals was unusually low, 1-0. At the half neither team had scored, but Jane Jarvis socked the only tally into the cage in the closing minutes of the second half. The hard-hitting T. C. defense, paced by Aubyn Townsend, and the swift Angkor forward line, led by Grace Benedict, were the outstanding features.

Although there were four teams that failed to score at all, there were many exceptional players. Lamiza Pearson, Anita Williamson, Harriet Orr, Corinne Howell, Virginia Graves, and Sarah Logue were the leading day student players, while Nancy Doherty, Jean Haman, Gertrude Schroer, Eloise Turner, Bess Moore, Mary Jane Dobbie, Charlotte Kinney, and Belle Vanderbilt were outstanding boarders.

The Senior-Senior Middle game, the climax of the season, was a close combat, both teams being about equal in strength. In the first half the Senior Mids were successful in scoring a goal, but the Seniors could not penetrate the opposing defense. In the second half the Seniors came back to tie the score 1-1 with their only goal. Although the Senior Middles were unable to score again, they outplayed the Seniors throughout the game.

The Junior-Junior-Middle game was comparatively uninteresting, although the fast Junior line succeeded in scoring two goals, while the defense, centering around Anita Williamson, prevented the Junior-Middle team from even threatening. Both squads showed lack of cooperation in their passing. Outstanding individual players were Corinne Howell, Dottie Lehrer, and Mamie Edwards.

Basketball

The exciting basketball season was ended with the final game between the Angkor's and the T. C.'s which proclaimed the former victorious by a score of 25 to 19. Both teams played hard, fast games with excellent teamwork and close cooperation. Well-timed shots for baskets made by Townsend highlighted the game, while Smith of the Angkor's turned in the highest scoring points for her team.

As the tournament entered the third preliminary rounds, four club teams remained undefeated: the Tri K, Del Vers, T. C., and Angkor.

The Del Vers-Tri K game proved to be one of the most spectacular of the year, and both teams battled, evenly matched, to a final score of 17 to 11 with the Del Vers in the lead. Wright and Dembinsky played brilliant games for the Del Vers, and their excellent guarding did much to uphold the defense. In the Del Vers-Angkor game, which was a hard fought triumph for the Angkor's, the closing score was 29 to 6. Wild passes and numerous interceptions lost the game for the Del Vers; however there was spectacular playing by Voigt, Fults, and Wright. Smith, Benedict, and Burk were outstanding players for the Angkor team.

High School Varsity—McMURRAY, SCHROER, CABELL.

Basketball

Climaxing the season were the interclass games, in which the Seniors tied the Senior-Mids in a startling game of passes. The score was 24 to 24, and in the midst of the colorful decorations and enthusiastic cheering of the spectators, both sides turned in sportsmanlike performances. Particular credit goes to Townsend, Boyd, and Logue of the Seniors, and to Williams, Steiner, and Austin of the Senior-Mids for outstanding playing. The Juniors defeated the Junior-Mids by a score of 22 to 15, and the fine work of Ragland and Williamson of the Juniors, and Lincoln, Talbott, and Lustgarten for the Junior-Mids added color and spirit to the game.

The varsities chosen for the year were as follows:

College

Marjorie Carter
Sarah Logue
Mary Wallace Austin
Jane Wright
Charlotte Kinney
June Williams

High School

Helen McMurray
Gertrude Schroer
Shelly Cabell
Elizabeth Ragland
Anita Williamson
Elizabeth Zerfoss

College Varsity—CARTER, S. LOGUE, AUSTIN, WRIGHT, KINNEY, WILLIAMS.

Riding

The annual Fall Riding Show was sponsored this year by the Turf and Tanbark Club. An added attraction was the featured costume ride in which the various clubs were competing for honors. The Tri K's placed first, with Elizabeth Crawford, portraying Uncle Sam, mounted on Rex. Second place went to the Penta Tau's who showed a Russian Court scene in which Betty McConnell was up on Dan. The Del Vers' came in third with the March of the Tin Soldiers which showed Arlene Hoier riding San Toi. Fourth prize went to the F. F.'s for a pioneer scene in which Peggy Brower rode Brown Jug.

The management class was easily won by June Williams riding Capers. Ann Talbott placed second on Little Jack and Pauline Culbertson was third on Cigarette. For the more experienced riders the pair class offered a chance to display expert horsemanship. Alice Mary Drew and Elizabeth Crawford, riding San Toi and Rex, took first place, while second were Jane Jarvis and Peggy Brower on Brown Jug and Lady Mary. In the intermediate class the blue ribbon was awarded to Peggy Pinkney, second place went to Helen Juttemeyer, and Jane Thompson placed third. In the beginner's class, made up of girls who had just begun to ride this fall,

First row—HALDT, SHANKLIN, HOIER, VANDEVER, MCCONNELL, ROGERS, LANGERFELD, MISS CAMILLA NANCE. Second row—BROWER, COHEN, BLOUNT, WILLIAMS, BREAZEALE, DREW.

Riding

Frances Lindfors took first place, second place was awarded to Elsie Jane Knapp, and third to Charlotte Baites. Some unusually fine riding was exhibited in the advanced three-gaited class. Elizabeth Crawford captured her third blue ribbon of the day. Peggy Brower was second on Little Jack, and Jane Jarvis placed third on San Toi.

The closing event was a drill exhibition by a group of certificate students including Elizabeth Crawford, June Haldt, Arlene Hoier, Pat Langerfeld, Betty McConnell, Peggy Brower, Walton Shanklin, and Eleanor Vandever. The silver pitcher, presented to the Turf and Tanbark Club by Mrs. Corinne Wooten Miller for them to present in turn to the club winning the Fall Horse Show, was awarded to the Tri K's.

The Spring Horse Show featured jumping, expertly done, by both beginners and advanced pupils. The riding cup was presented to the Penta Tau's, who had the highest number of riding points for the year.

The committee in charge of the horse shows was composed of Miss Sisson, official judge of events, Mr. Benedict in charge of presenting the awards, and Miss Nance acting as ringmaster.

Tennis

As the fall athletic season opened many girls were attracted by the lure of the net and racquet. Clubs urged their members to sign up for the tournament, and balls began to fly back and forth across the courts.

The quarter-finals ended with Townsend, Leavell, Hyland, and Benedict in the running. Campbell was forced to bow to the accuracy of Hyland's strokes with the score at the end of their fast game, 6-1, 6-1, while Sally Matthews was eliminated in a well-played match against Benedict by a score of 6-2, 3-6, 6-1.

As the semi-finals progressed, Charlotte Kinney lost a hard-fought game to Grace Benedict. June Hyland played an equally accurate game, but Aubyn's powerful strokes were aimed a little too keenly for her opponent.

Finalists, Tennis Singles—BENEDICT, runner-up; TOWNSEND, winner.

Tennis

Her smashing serves were so placed that they were impossible to return, and when the game ended, the score was 6-1, 6-3.

Grace Benedict, last year's victor, held out until the finals, but again Mary Aubyn Townsend's powerful forehand was difficult to overcome, and the game ended spectacularly with the score standing 5-7, 6-4, 6-4. The playing was fast, and the serves without more than minor faults. Townsend shot her balls with accuracy, displaying excellent form and her characteristic force.

In the spring tennis again returned to the fore, and a doubles tournament was sponsored by the Athletic Association.

Semi-finalists, Tennis Singles—HYLAND, KINNEY.

Dancing

Toe, tap, acrobatic, ballet or ballroom dancing are all open to any girl in school who cares to learn. During the year several recitals are given by the students of the department, but this year an exceptional bit of entertainment was provided by Elaine Baker's diploma recital in which she was assisted by other members of the advanced classes. Always ready and willing, Miss Delaney and the department are valuable to every organization on campus because of the cooperation they give in working out varied programs.

May Day, whose program is almost wholly made up of special dances, is a fitting climax to a busy and eventful year for the dancers.

Swimming

Competition ran high in the annual swimming meet held on March 14 this year. Opportunity for individual display of prowess and technique in the water was offered and Jane Wright was winner in the individual honors for the second year in succession, with high score of 33%, Gorton was second with 15½ points, and Hoier third with 14%.

The club ratings ran exceptionally high this year, and Del Vers took the lead with 50½ points, second were the Tri K's with 21 4/5 points, and third were the Agora's with 21%. Jane Wright made a new record, exceeding the one set by her last year in the 150-foot free style relay. The time was 29.6.

Water polo received such enthusiastic response last year that it was offered again this term as an extracurricular sport. Toward the end of school the Seniors played the Senior-Mids in a fast and enthusiastic game.

Bowling

The fourth round of an interclub bowling season ended with the Eccowasin Club victorious. Following close behind were the Angkor's, Osiron's, and T. C.'s in second, third, and fourth place, respectively. The Eccowasin's won by a score of 1452, a few points behind them were the Angkor's with a score of 1427, Osiron's 1409, and T. C.'s 1378. The scores were on an average of from five to ten points higher than last year's marks, and the leading club teams were exceptionally well-matched. Final scores of the fourth and deciding round were Eccowasin 1864, Angkor 1852, Osiron, 1848, and T. C. 1831.

Among the individual scorers who rolled high games were Helen McMurray, Eccowasin, with a score of 195; Ethel Doherty, Penta Tau, was second with 165; and third place was won by Mary Morel, also an Eccowasin, who bowled 161. In the third round Charlotte Kinney, a T. C., was outstanding with high score of 160. Helen DuVernet rolled 138 for the Osiron's and Jean Ewing, Eccowasin, was third with a score of 128.

Varsityes were chosen from among those girls who had bowled high scores throughout the season. They were as follows:

College

Charlotte Kinney
Barbara Morrow
Mary Morel
Ethel Doherty

High School

Nancy Doherty
Martha Bryan
Helen McMurray
Katherine Edwards

Fencing

The delicate art of fencing is one of the most popular sports offered to the girls. Miss Sehmman, during the winter months, has taught many of these who were interested in acquiring grace and poise to know the meaning of "En garde; cut over and lunge; and parry sixth."

College Bowling Varsity—KINNEY, MORROW, MOREL.

Spring Sports

As the winter sport season closes and the bowling alley and gymnasium become deserted, spring offers many opportunities to take advantage of the warm sun and fresh air. Baseball holds a favored position in the choice of athletics, and club teams have been organized under capable managers. Mornings are spent in practice, and the girls enter each game with equal enthusiasm. Those interested in gaining speed and muscle coordination have chosen track as their elective. Although archery is a less strenuous sport, it has proved very popular, calling for skill and aiding toward good posture, while golf, an old favorite, gives the girls a chance to brush up on their form for the summer.

Agora Club

The Agora's are noted for being excellent hostesses, and the success of their many social activities during the school year is proof of this. Before Christmas the girls gave an open house. At Christmas they entertained a group from the Tennessee Children's Home with a party in the clubhouse. Before the holidays they also gave a coffee honoring the faculty, with the table decorated in green and white, the club colors. Early in the spring they entertained their sister club, the A. K.'s, with a skating party followed by dinner in the clubhouse. Later in the season they gave a tea dance for members and their guests. Several times during the year the girls gave breakfasts in the house for the members.

The Agora's also had an interest in sports as was shown by their various teams of hockey, basketball, bowling, and baseball.

A. K. Club

All 'Round Klub, A. K., has been active in various campus affairs. The members went on a week end at White Bluff early in the fall. Later in the season they entertained with an open house. After Christmas they gave a gym dance for their friends in which the decorations carried out the spirit of the old-fashioned carnival and circus. The members dressed as freaks in a side show, and there was everything from the half-man half-woman to the fat lady. In a secluded corner of the gym, "Gypsy" Helen Friedlander told fortunes. The colors of the club, green and white, were carried out in the decorations at the tea given for the faculty in the winter. Later in the spring the members entertained with a picnic for their sister club, the Agora's. At Christmas time they gave a party for the Tennessee Children's Home, bringing their guests to the clubhouse where they played games and exchanged gifts around the tree.

The A. K.'s have also been active in sports, and sponsored organized teams in hockey, basketball, bowling, and other important activities on the campus.

Angkor Club

The Angkor's have been one of the most enthusiastic of the day-student clubs. The name is derived from the Temple of Angkor in India, significant of a group meeting place. Blue and white are the club colors.

During the year the girls have participated in all the sports, winning the basketball tournament by a large margin. Both the hockey and bowling teams played in the finals of their respective sports.

Not only are the girls outstanding in athletic activities, but they are particularly proud of having won the Scholarship Cup for the seventh consecutive time and the Day Student Citizenship Cup for this year.

Anti-Pandora Club

Significant of their name, the Anti-Pan's strive to uphold loyalty, dignity, and all the things which the curious Pandora, in the ancient fable, tried to destroy.

The girls began their social season by giving an open house. At Christmas time they gave a party for a group of older girls from the orphan's home. In the spring the club asked Mr. and Mrs. Underwood to dinner, after which Mr. Underwood played many lovely selections on the piano. In early April, the group went on a week end, and later entertained with a party for their sister club, the Del Vers.

The Anti-Pan's were active in many of the campus sports with organized teams of basketball, hockey, and bowling. Eleanor Vandever, the club secretary, won honors in the fall horse show.

Ariston Club

The yellow and white colors of the Ariston's have delved into many campus activities. The name is derived from the Greek word meaning "best," and the members try to live up to this ideal.

During the early spring, the Ariston's entertained jointly with the Triad's at a skating party with dinner in the tearoom afterwards. This was given for the members of both clubs and their friends.

In the early fall, the Ariston's had the largest number of volunteers in the tennis tournament, and they gave an admirable showing in the matches. The girls also had teams in bowling, basketball, and hockey. In the spring swimming and baseball were the favorite extracurricular activities.

Del Vers Club

The Del Vers' entered their yellow and white colors in many campus activities, and came through the semi-finals in basketball. They organized teams in baseball, hockey, bowling, and swimming.

Early in the school year the Del Vers' gave a skating party for their sister club, the Anti-Pandora. Afterward the group met at the Del Vers house for a delicious dinner of "wieners and cokes." In the spring the club entertained with a gym dance for their friends, and later in the season gave a picnic for the enjoyment of the members. Two open houses were given also, and made especially attractive by the presence of boys. At Christmas time the girls gave a basket to a poor family and established a milk fund for this same family.

Eccowasin Club

Eccowasin is an Indian name that means "Be all and give all," and the emblem of the club is the swastika, a primitive religious symbol signifying benediction, health, and good omen. These girls have lived up to the ideals of scholarship, loyalty, and sportsmanship throughout the year. They were among the three highest in scholarship, as well as the club winning the bowling cup. They were also active in other sports on the campus.

They gave two luncheon meetings during the year, and a party in the gym with the Angkor's, honoring the members and their friends.

F. F. Club

The purple and lavender of the F. F. Club is one of the well known color combinations on the campus. Named the Friendly Fifty Club, the group really upholds its chosen aim.

Early in the school term the girls entertained with an open house, and later they gave a skating party for their sister club, the Penta Tau's. In the early spring, the club gave a dinner dance for their friends. At Christmas a basket of toys was made up for the orphanage.

The F. F.'s placed among the winners in the fall horse show and had organized teams in other competitive sports on the campus.

Osiron Club

The green and white of the Osiron owls has been well represented in many of the outstanding campus activities. The name is made from the first letter of the six words—Originality, Sincerity, Interest, Right, Objective, and Nebleness. All these adjectives describe the organization and its members.

They entertained their sister club, the T. C.'s, with a Mexican dinner, and the table decorations, as well as the food, carried out the scheme of Old Mexico. Later in the season the members invited their friends to a coffee in the clubhouse. At Christmas time the members made a donation toward a basket to be taken to a destitute girl, ill in the hospital.

The Osirons, as a club, were active in sports, reaching the semi-finals in the bowling tournament.

Penta Tau Club

The fifth house in club village belongs to the Penta Tau's, hence the first part of their name, Penta, taken from the Latin meaning fifth. Tau is derived from the first letters in the three words which make up the club's motto—Think, Act, Use.

The Penta Tau's have delved into many campus activities during the season. The colors, rose and gray, are very popular. The girls have done much socially, civically, and athletically.

After Christmas they gave an open house, and in the early winter entertained with a tea dance for their sister club, the F. F.'s. Before leaving for the Christmas vacation, they gave a party in the clubhouse for the night watchmen's children.

Athletics also claimed a large amount of the club's attention, and the Penta Tau's participated in all of the competitive sports with enthusiasm and spirit.

Twentieth Century Club

This modern club, the Twentieth Century, has been very adept in sports, winning the coveted hockey cup, playing in the finals in basketball, and working up to the finals in bowling.

Their social calendar displays the originality and modernness of the club's members as hostesses, as well as athletes. They entertained with a gym dance for their friends, calling it the Storybook Ball. Everyone came dressed as characters from well-known books, and a prize was given for the best characterization. Their open house, given after Christmas vacation, was another high light of the club's social season.

Triad Club

The Triad Club takes its name from its threefold purpose: "social, civic, and athletic." The members were active in all sports, reaching the finals in the basketball tournament. Excellent club spirit and sportsmanship were displayed by the girls in all other competitive games during the year.

Late in the fall the Triad's entertained with the Ariston's for members and their guests at the Hippodrome skating rink. During the year, the club held two luncheon meetings.

Tri K Club

The sign of the KKK stands for Kubla Khan Club, named for the wise old Mongolian ruler, known for his just citizenship. The Tri K's are outstanding on the campus as leaders in athletics. They won the fall horse show, by carrying away the most honors in the way of blue ribbons. In hockey, they made their showing also by reaching the semifinals.

The Tri K's show a social side as well as an athletic one. Soon after initiation, the girls welcomed their new members with a skating party. The girls entertained with an open house before the Christmas holidays, and later a gym dance was given in which the decorations were an imitation of a hunt club. Early in the spring the members gave a tea for the faculty, carrying out the scheme of the season by decorating the house with spring flowers. Later in the spring the club gave a tea dance for their friends, and a dinner was given at Belle Meade for the club members.

X. L. Club

The name X. L. stands for the Roman numerals meaning forty, which was the original number of the membership when the club was organized.

The girls have done much in the way of entertaining during the school year. They gave a tea dance for their friends early in the season, and in the late fall the club went on a week-end at White Bluff. They entertained their sister club, the Tri K's, with a supper in the house. At Christmas time they fed and clothed a destitute family.

The X. L.'s had organized teams in baseball, basketball, bowling, and other campus sports. Jane Berry and Letitia Breeze, two of the members, were chosen to be on the Senior-Mid basketball team.

Club Village

Freedom from the classroom, diversion from daily routine, and a chance to be with friends are provided for the girls in the ten club-houses of club village. Clustered about the old tower and in the midst of graceful shade trees, the houses are popular for dates in the evening, a friendly bridge game in the afternoon, or an early Sunday morning breakfast as well as proving themselves the center of activity for the weekly club meetings.

The clubhouses provide a hospitable view from the opposite side of the circle and are almost lost amid the soft foliage of the trees. Quite in contrast is the scene in midwinter, snow blanketed on the ground and even stuck away in crevices of the tower.

So during the past twenty-five years club village has been built not only from the stone and mortar which comprise its material foundation, but from the friendly spirit and homelike atmosphere which surround the interiors of the houses themselves.

"Then if ever come perfect days."

Graduation, Baccalaureate, Step Singing, Class Recognition Days

Unforgettable are the traditions that surround the opening and closing days of school. Through the years they have come to be customs built up by each succeeding class, which, as it leaves, passes on to its successor the work and progress made. Thus graduation has come not to mean the end of school life here, but to symbolize a milestone in the school's progression toward a definite goal.

When the new girls replace the old girls on the steps of the Academic Building at step singing, the black-gowned baccalaureate procession, that last day, and graduation itself, all lead to the day of class recognition as the class of tomorrow takes up the work and traditions of the outgoing class.

Fag Day

Of all the queer sights that our campus beholds during the school year, the most unusual comes early in the season when initiation for the various social clubs is under way.

The stunts last from seven o'clock in the morning until after breakfast, and in some cases all day long. Fag Day, as this peculiar demonstration is called, is one of the high lights of the school year. It would astonish anyone to see the more dignified girls crawling on hands and knees, adorned with a baby bonnet and muttering an unintelligible lingo. The Hawaiian Islands are transferred for a few hours to the campus of Ward-Belmont, and strange hula girls, wearing skirts made of everything from slits of the home-town newspaper to laundry sacks, parade in gay contrast about the campus.

Throughout the day the "new girls" are being initiated! That night the cold cream is applied none too sparingly, when the pledges prepare for bed, so that the following day there are scarcely any traces of the previous day's celebration left on the bright and beaming faces of the new members.

George Washington's Birthday

As old as any of the traditions of Ward-Belmont is the yearly celebration of George Washington's birthday by the student body and household. From the senior class two girls are chosen to represent George and Martha, and reign for one night over the festivities in their honor. After a formal dinner in the dining room the entire school retired to the gym where they watched the senior class, dressed in powdered wigs and lace flounces, dance the minuet. Time is forgotten, and the figures of George and Martha are as realistic as in days of old, as they swayed gracefully to the rhythm of the staid old minuet.

Senior-Senior-Middle Activities

Senior-Senior-Middle Day more than lived up to the expectations of all the new girls, and the old girls too gave evidence of having a grand time. The undercurrent of excitement which had been felt all week at last bubbled over at 6:30 o'clock in the morning of the Great Day. As the bell rang the doors of the halls were opened and amid lusty shouts the Seniors and Senior-Mids dashed out and with looks of "do or die" in their eyes began to transform the campus as the yellow and white of the Seniors and the purple and white of the Senior-Mids streamed and clustered in every available place.

The excitement of competition grew as the Seniors began their Indian parade at 9:30 and the Senior-Mids followed with their representation of the Empire of the South.

Good sportsmanship prevailed alike throughout the games of the day as it had in the hockey, basketball, and bowling games earlier in the year. Baseball, in which the Senior-Mids were victorious, archery and water polo also raised the yellow and white in victory. The classes put all of their spirit into cheering their respective teams to victory. Undoubtedly the most popular cheer was that in which the Seniors recognized Miss Sisson, their class sponsor.

*"Emma" sits in her tepee
Cheering braves to victory
Swamp 'em, swamp 'em,
Get that wampum
Ugh! !*

At 6:15 in the evening after the Senior-Mids had taken their places in the big dining room, the Seniors entered two by two singing their class song. After they had filed into the little dining room, the Senior-Mids in return sang to them. When Mr. Benedict announced that the Seniors had won in the day's competition, cries of both joy and disappointment were heard, but there was certainly no hard feeling between the classes. Instead, we will all remember Senior-Senior-Middle Day as one of the milestones of our days at Ward-Belmont.

Senior-Senior-Middle Banquet

The Gypsy Camp: The Senior-Middles Welcome the Senior Class to the Gypsy Camp March 15

In the hills of a far-off land where the color and romance of a gypsy camp ran riot, the roving caravan of Senior-Mids paused for a while to pay tribute to their guests of the day, the Seniors. Around their campfire the company heard the interesting story of the gypsy patteran, and toast-mistress Letitia Breese carefully patterned the long and thrilling journey through the land of Romany.

Color streamed from the lights and decorated the banquet tables, and the gypsy theme was carried out even to the presence of a dilapidated covered wagon, laden with guineas and ducks. Gay dancers and merry jesters, fortune tellers, and the dipsy-doodlers entertained the visitors in true gypsy fashion.

May Day

Toward the close of school comes an event which creates much excitement among members of the student body. It is the election of a May Queen. Nominees are selected from the senior class and the girl receiving the most votes reigns as "queen for a day" over the May fete.

Under the supervision of the Physical Education Department the festivities this year centered around two distinct themes. Part I was a welcome to spring, which included ballet numbers relative to the season and executed by the beginner's, intermediate, and advanced ballet classes. Part II had as its theme, "Rivers," and represented, both in dance and costume, many of the important rivers around the world. The finale was a lovely Maypole scene with one hundred and twelve dance students performing intricate routines with the strains of "The Beautiful Blue Danube" as an appropriate background.

spend a quiet evening at home." . . . "After you."

Snaps

Who's your valentine?
... Spring. ... Halo
angels. ... Stopped short.
... Taking it easy on the open road. ... Surprised or guilty? ... Swing high, swing low. ...
Homework. ... Relaxation.

FISHOLOGY

Fish is health-food,
Pure and simple—
Feeds the mind,
Brings out your dimple;

Should you angle after School is out—
There's good fish yet
As e'er caught out.

Some of these are
Seashore fresh,
So fish for them
With larger mesh.

Dearest Jean,

Well, here at the end of our year together, and we enjoyed it hugely. You're a sweet girl and I value our friendship.

Remember me, write me, and come and see me.

Lovingly,
